Marketing that refuses to waste your money

Start with a free 31-point audit of your own website. No account. No card.
Then 39 AI agents build the offer, run the campaigns and stop the spend that is not working.

A deck you can check before you believe it — every number here is on the website.

THE PROBLEM

Most marketing tools tell you what happened. None of them refuse.

A dashboard shows you that £400 went out and two enquiries came back. It shows you that again next month.

Nothing in it ever declines to run an advert that cannot be measured, stops a campaign that is losing, or tells you an address it found belongs to somebody else.

That is the gap this was built in. Not more reporting — refusal.

A real crawl of your real website, 31 checks

Put your address in

No account, no card, no call. The crawler fetches your actual pages, exactly as a search engine would.

See your three worst problems

Free, in full, with what each one costs you and how to fix it. Not a score with a sales call attached.

Decide afterwards

If the audit is wrong, you have lost nothing and you will know not to trust the rest. That is the point of leading with it.

WHAT IT ACTUALLY DOES

39 agents, 12 tools, 9 of them working before you connect anything

Find the customers

Import a list of business names and it finds their websites, their published addresses and their phone numbers. It never invents one.

Write what you send

Offers, emails, adverts and landing pages, in your brand's voice and your customer's language — not a template with your name dropped in.

Run the campaigns

Briefs, creative, publication and follow-up across email, social and paid, from one place with one bill.

Watch the money

Cost per lead and per order against your own numbers, not an industry average. Every refusal is calculated, never guessed.

WHATEVER SIZE YOU ARE

The same engine. Three different jobs.

On your own

A trade, a shop, a single practice

You have no marketing hours and no agency. It does the writing, the sending and the chasing, and it tells you which of your own customers are about to leave.

Starts at £0 — the audit, the offer builder and the vault need no card at all.

Growing

A team, a few thousand customers

You have campaigns running and no idea which are paying. It scores every one against your own median, kills the losers and reroutes the budget to what is working.

Growth is £49 a month for 3 brands and 5 people.

Several brands

A group, a franchise, an agency

Each brand keeps its own voice, its own sending domain and its own audience. One account, one bill, and no brand's list ever touches another's.

Brands are separated in the database itself, not by a filter in the interface.

THE PART NOBODY ELSE SELLS

It says no, and it says why

It will not spend where it cannot measure

A paid boost is refused outright when conversion tracking is not connected. Spending blind is not a service.

It will not send you somebody else's address

Every email it finds is checked against the business it belongs to. A directory inbox is thrown away rather than added to your list.

It will not post twice

When a publish response is lost, the next attempt asks the channel what happened instead of guessing and posting again.

It will not invent anything

No fabricated contacts, no made-up statistics, no filler where a real answer should be. When it cannot find something it tells you that it could not.

It stops when you say stop

One control halts every campaign, every scheduled send and every pound of spend, immediately.

PRICING

Three plans. No setup fee, no contract, no sales call.

Free

£0 for ever

1 brand · 1 user · 0 credits a month

The audit, the customer vault and the offer builder. Enough to judge it.

Starter

£19 a month

1 brand · 2 users · 380 credits a month

Or £160/yr. Everything above plus live campaigns and AI work.

Growth

£49 a month

3 brands · 5 users · 980 credits a month

Or £412/yr. For several brands and a team around them.

AI work is charged in credits so you pay for what you use, not a seat you do not fill. A 15-second video is about £5.25; the shortest is £2.81. Unused work costs nothing.

WHAT STAYS YOURS

Your customers, your data, your exit

Your list is yours

Export every contact, every campaign and every result at any time, in a file you can open. No permission needed and no fee.

Consent travels with the contact

Who agreed, when, and how, recorded against each person. Unsubscribes are honoured across every brand in the account at once.

Your data is separated at the database

Not hidden by the interface. Another account cannot read yours even if the screen is wrong.

Sensitive fields are encrypted before they are stored

Contact details are written encrypted, not merely protected by a login.

REFERRALS

If you send somebody, you get paid for it

Share a link. When somebody you introduced spends, you earn 0.5% of it, for as long as they stay.

Withdraw from £20. No follower count, no application, no tier to reach first.
